A GREAT PLACE TO DO NANOSCIENCE

Introduction to NanoLund event September 16, 2020

What is NanoLund? Which are the scientific possibilities? What does it mean to be involved in NanoLund? How is it organised? Which are the benefits? How can I find collaborators? How can I use equipment in other labs? Tips and tricks for PhD students and postdocs?

To answer these and many other questions, we would like to welcome you to an introduction event to NanoLund Wednesday September 16, 2020 from 14:00 to 16:30. It will take place via Zoom. The event is open to everyone who has joined NanoLund relatively recently: PhD students, postdocs, administrative and technical staff, Members and Affiliated members – and all who always wanted to know more.
